To Whom It May Concern:

Gordon Ridge, one of our Technical Directors, asked me to write a brief letter describing his employment here at Foundation Imaging. If you have had a chance to review his reel, I'm sure you'll agree with me that his skills as an animator and Technical Director are top-notch. He worked on Roughnecks and Max Steel with us, and the quality of his work was impressive from day one.

What you will not see in his reel, however, is Gordon's willingness to go the extra mile to help deliver these shows. His strength as a clutch player, able to step in and remain focused as deadlines approached, was a source of relief for me and others on the production team.

He would make a tremendous asset to any company.

Best regards,
